OUR BABY.

Little Tot;

and her skin so lily white,

Tell you what,

She is just the sweetest baby

Ahl she is our only darling,

All her little ways are witty;

Every word is just as pretty

When she sings her tittle ditty,

You don't think so-you ne'er saw her!

See her with her playthings clattering,

Hear her little tongue a chattering,

Little dancing feet come pattering-

In the lot.

And to me

Not another in the city

Sweet as she

Wish you could

Think you would

Love her just as well as I do-

SPEECH OF THE PRESIDENT BLECT AT PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22. The eeremony of raising the flag of 34 stars over the Hall of Independence this morning by Mr. Lincoln, was attended with all the solemnity due such an occanion, the scene being an impres-

At seven o'clock Mr. Lincoln was es corted to the Hall and there received, by Theodore Cuyler, who warmly welcomes him to its venerable walls in the boar of national peril and distress, when the with instant ruin.

Mr. Lincoln responded as follows: Mr. CUYLER: I am filled with deep motion at finding myself standing here in this place where once was collected ogether the wisdom, the patriotism, and the devotion to the principles from which sprang the institutions under which we live. You have suggested that in my hands is the task of restoring peace to the present distracted condition of the country. I can say, sir, that all the poitical sentiments I entertain, have been drawn, so far as I am able to draw them, from the sentiments which originated in and were given to the world from this hall. I have never had a feeling politically that did not spring from the sentiments embodied in the Declaration of Independence. I have often pondered over the dangers which were incurred by the men who assembled here and framed and adopted that Declaration of Independence; I have pondered over the toils that were endured by the officers and soldiers of the army who achieved that independence; and I have often inquired of myself what great principle or idea it was that kept this confederacy so long together. It was not the mere matter of the separation of the colonies from the mother land, but that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence which gave liberty, not alone to the people of this ountry, but I hope to the world for all future time. [Great applause.] It was stituted authorities of the nation, and party. They have roused the spirit of that which gave promise that in due that, if these terms are not acceded to, patriotism. They have given strength time the weight would be lifted from the blane of the consequent disruption to the true lovers of Uniou in the South the shoulders of all men.
